EDITORIAL NOTE

The TEKU Journal of Interdisciplinary Studies (TJIS) is an online Journal owned by Teofilo Kisanji University in Mbeya. It publishes a wide range of articles from Natural Sciences, Social Sciences, Arts and the humanities. It publishes original, well-presented, well-documented and well-argued research and theoretical articles, both solicited and unsolicited ones. It also publishes high quality Book Reviews. The main purpose of the Journal is to promote academic research to both junior and senior researchers in the mentioned disciplines. Junior scholars are mentored by senior scholars in order to bring their researches and papers into publication. Being interdisciplinary, the journal accommodates a wide range of methods, design, and theories.

This third volume issue two contains qualified articles from Education, Languages, Journalism and Science. The Chief Editor welcomes readers in all academic fields of study to read this third volume of TJIS and contribute articles for forthcoming issues. Should there be any comments for further improvement, please channel them to the Managing Editor using the provided contacts.
